INTERNATIONAL ACADEMIC EXPERT
SEMINAR

'SOFT SHEPHERD OR ALMIGHTY PASTOR?':
POWER (IM)BALANCES IN PASTORAL CARE

'His Almighty Power' © Rhonda Myers, USA

5-7 January 2012

Summary

Power as a lens for viewing the complexity of society, church and pastoral care has become a pressing issue in current research. Many perspectives – critical discourse analysis, the focus on diversity, intersectionality and minority groups, hierarchical and pastoral power, etc. – are currently considering the presence of power in the realm of pastoral care, a consideration that has long been 'taboo'. We want therefore, to break down this taboo, and make power in pastoral care an issue of great importance on the theological and pastoral agenda by means of this international expert seminar, organized in Leuven from the 5th until the 7th January 2012. The sub-themes are the nature of power (the presence of power, kinds of power, power analysis, approaching power, empowerment), power in the pastoral relationship (asymmetrical relations, mutuality and empowerment, metaphors and discourse, boundaries of power), institutional power (the nature of institutional power, institutional discourse) and power and diversity (diversity and institutional power, diversity and individual pastoral care, language of diversity, inclusion and exclusion).

This international academic Expert Seminar aims to bring distinguished scholars together to examine, from different perspectives, the question of power in pastoral care. The seminar seeks to provide a platform where knowledge from various disciplines and multiple approaches can be shared in an enriching encounter that fosters refined and thorough research on power in pastoral care, imbedded in its particular contexts of churches and policy.
